Who doesn't love hotels? You can order room service and someone else makes the bed! There are always new hotspots popping up all over the globe, and we always have our eye on the best of the best.

What makes a hotel "the best"? It might be any number of aspects, ranging from its design to the amenities and service, to the restaurants that become destinations unto themselves, to the neighborhood it calls home - and just the vibe in general (do you feel right at home in the lobby?). We kept these factors, and more, in mind when narrowing down our top picks from our master list of best new hotels that have opened in the last year - and there a lot of them! We spent hours researching and picking the brains of our industry contacts to see which hotels really rose to the top, and made sure to choose different types of hotels - from hip boutiques to revamped classics - that cover the geographical gamut, because we know that not every traveler wants the same hospitality experience.

Ready to see which spots made the list? Here are the best new hotels to check out (or "in") in 2019.

B On Canal - New Orleans, Louisiana

The latest from B Hotels, which has hotels in Fort Lauderdale and Orlando, is B On Canal in New Orleans. The stylish property is located in the Central Business District, which is a quick walk to the French Quarter and bar-lined Bourbon Street, but far enough for peace of mind. The contemporary design features marble black-and-white floors and suede and velvet accents in the rooms. Plus, the craft cocktails in the bar should not be missed.
